Rebecca M. Blank became chancellor of the University of Wisconsin–Madison in July 2013. Since then, she has presided over a major effort to expand and improve educational opportunities, both inside and outside of the classroom, to better prepare students to succeed in a rapidly changing economy. At the same time, she has worked to maintain the university’s position as a global leader in innovation and research and has emphasized the role of the University in nurturing entrepreneurship and driving economic development.

Blank is an internationally respected economist who has also spent time in Washington, D.C., working in three different administrations. Most recently, she served as Deputy Secretary and Acting Secretary of the U.S. Department of Commerce under President Obama.

She also brings strong academic credentials to the position of chancellor. She served as dean and professor of public policy and economics in the Gerald R. Ford School of Public Policy at the University of Michigan from 1999 to 2008. In her role as dean, she launched such innovations as interdisciplinary graduate programs and an undergraduate public policy major. Earlier in her career, she was a member of the faculty at Northwestern University and Princeton University.

A native Midwesterner, Blank earned an undergraduate degree in economics from the University of Minnesota and a doctoral degree in economics from MIT.

In 2015, Blank was awarded the Daniel Patrick Moynihan Prize by the American Academy of Political and Social Science. The prize honors individuals who use sound analysis and social science research to inform public policy while also contributing to the public discourse on society’s most pressing issues.

Blank is a frequent speaker on the importance of public research universities. She has been part of a vital national conversation about ways in which to keep these institutions thriving and strong.

Her leadership has reinforced UW–Madison’s position as one of the world’s top 25 universities — a center for education, discovery and research, committed to sharing knowledge and innovation that improves lives in Wisconsin and around the globe.
Sarah C. Mangelsdorf is the provost and vice chancellor for academic affairs at the University of Wisconsin–Madison. She began serving as provost in August 2014.

Mangelsdorf came to Madison after serving six years as the dean of the Judd A. and Marjorie Weinberg College of Arts and Sciences at Northwestern University, where she was also a member of the Department of Psychology. Prior to Northwestern, Mangelsdorf served from 2004 to 2008 as the Henry E. Preble Dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign — the first woman to hold that position. She joined the University of Illinois Department of Psychology in 1991 and served as associate provost from 2001 to 2003 and head of the psychology department from 2003 to 2004. Previously she served four years as an assistant professor of psychology at the University of Michigan.

Mangelsdorf’s scholarship focuses on social and emotional development in infancy and early childhood, and she is the author of numerous articles on developmental psychology. At the University of Illinois, she was honored several times for her teaching. She won the Mabel Hohenboken Teaching Award in 1997 and the William Prokasy Teaching Award, the college’s highest award for teaching, in 1998.

She has served on the editorial boards of five academic journals, including the editorial boards of Child Development and Infant Behavior and Development, and is a fellow of the American Psychological Association. She chaired the Committee on Institutional Cooperation (CIC) Arts & Sciences Deans Group and serves as a trustee of the Erikson Institute in Chicago.

Mangelsdorf earned her undergraduate degree in psychology from Oberlin College in Ohio and her doctoral degree in child psychology from the University of Minnesota. In 2012, she received the Distinguished Alumni Achievement Award from the College of Education and Human Development at the University of Minnesota.
Lynsey Addario is an award-winning photojournalist whose assignments have largely involved documenting global conflicts, often at great personal risk. She received her bachelor’s degree in Italian and international studies from UW–Madison in 1995.

Addario’s assignments have taken her to Latin America, Africa, South Asia and the Middle East for publications including the New York Times, National Geographic, Time Magazine, Newsweek, Harper’s, The Associated Press, Los Angeles Times and The Boston Globe. She was kidnapped in 2004 in Iraq, then again in 2011 in Libya alongside fellow UW–Madison alumnus Anthony Shadid and two other journalists.

Addario’s professional experiences and her witness to the abuses of women and children in war-torn or male-dominated societies have compelled her to harness her professional skills in service of public advocacy. She has assembled major gallery exhibits and photographic essays “to mobilize the international community to act on human suffering.” The impact of her work has won her recognition well outside her professional circles.

Named one of the five most influential photographers in the last 25 years by American Photo Magazine, Addario received a Pulitzer Prize as part of a NYTimes team working in Pakistan and Afghanistan. For her ability to harness her profession to humanitarianism, she received a MacArthur Fellowship in 2009.

Addario’s bestselling memoir It’s What I Do: A Photographer’s Life Of Love And War has been optioned by Warner Bros. to be adapted into a feature film directed by Steven Spielberg.
William J. Rutter is a pioneer in the field of biotechnology. His connection to Madison began in 1952, during a postdoctoral appointment in the laboratory of Henry Lardy at the Institute for Enzyme Research.

Rutter held faculty positions at the University of Illinois and the University of Washington before arriving at the University of California-San Francisco in 1968. His vision of coordinated research in human biology, allied with his ability to identify and attract leading young scientists, resulted in UCSF quickly becoming a pivotal center in molecular and cell biology and biochemistry.

Epochal breakthroughs by Rutter’s research group included the first cloning of genes for insulin and other growth hormones, as well as the hepatitis B virus. In 1981, seeking to maximize the real-world impact of his research, Rutter established Chiron Corporation, a pioneer in the emerging field of biotechnology. Under his leadership, Chiron created procedures for producing insulin from yeast, methods that are used for making most of the world’s insulin, and a recombinant DNA vaccine for hepatitis B (with Merck), as well as decoded the genomes for HIV and discovered the hepatitis C virus. This led to sensitive diagnostic tests for HIV, HBV and HCV, used to eliminate virus contamination from worldwide blood supplies.

Although no longer affiliated with UCSF, Rutter is an adviser to UCSF’s Global Health Sciences, expanding health care capacity in the United States and the developing world. He is also the founder of Synergenics, a consortium of biotech companies oriented to prevention and treatment of infectious and metabolic diseases.

Rutter earned a bachelor’s degree from Harvard University, a master’s degree from the University of Utah and a doctorate from the University of Illinois, all in biochemistry.
HONORARY DEGREE

Tommy G. Thompson

Tommy G. Thompson is the longest-serving governor in Wisconsin history, serving from 1987 until 2001. Subsequently, he served as Secretary of Health and Human Services under President George W. Bush from 2001 until 2005. Currently, he is the chairman and chief executive officer of Thompson Holdings. He received two degrees from UW–Madison, a bachelor’s degree in 1963 and a law degree in 1966.

During his years as governor, Thompson introduced sweeping reform in areas such as welfare, with the Wisconsin Works (W-2) program and the BadgerCare initiative, which extended health care to thousands of previously uninsured low-income individuals and families. Both programs served as models for similar reforms in other states and for the Clinton administration in the mid-1990s.

At both the state and federal level, Thompson championed the university’s transformative work in biotechnology, including groundbreaking stem cell research that elevated UW–Madison to international prominence.

Following Thompson’s term in public office, he has continued to build on his efforts to develop innovative solutions to health care challenges facing American families, businesses, communities, states and the nation as a whole. These efforts focus on improving the use of information technology in hospitals, clinics and doctors’ offices; promoting healthier lifestyles; strengthening and modernizing Medicare and Medicaid; and expanding the use of medical diplomacy around the world.

Thompson has also served as chairman of the National Governors’ Association, the Education Commission of the States and the Midwestern Governors’ Conference. He served in the Wisconsin National Guard and the Army Reserve. Additionally, he is currently a member of the Council on Foreign Relations.
Regina M. Millner

University of Wisconsin System Regent Regina M. Millner, of Madison, Wisconsin, was elected president of the Board in June 2015. She was appointed to the Board in 2012.

Millner’s career as a lawyer and consultant in commercial real estate spans more than 30 years. She has served in leadership positions on the boards of many for-profit and not-for-profit corporations, including MGE Energy, CG Schmidt, the Wisconsin Alumni Association, the UW–Madison Athletic Board, the Wisconsin Real Estate Alumni Association, the Chazen Art Museum Council and the Chancellor’s Advisory Board. She is also very active in the Madison community, having served on the boards of the Rotary Club of Madison, Meriter Hospital and Health Services, Madison Symphony Orchestra and the Madison Children’s Museum, among others.

A proud Badger alumna, Millner earned her law degree from the University of Wisconsin Law School and her master’s degree in real estate and urban land economics from the Wisconsin School of Business. She also earned an undergraduate degree in education from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.
The University of Wisconsin–Madison

The University of Wisconsin–Madison and its alumni have a rich tradition of national and international leadership in teaching, research, entrepreneurship and public service. We regularly rank near the top in research dollars and are rated among the strongest in the world in international reputation. And, as any visitor can readily attest, our beautiful lakeshore campus is considered to be among the nation’s most picturesque.

This university has existed for as long as Wisconsin has been a state, tracing its roots to a clause in the Constitution of the State of Wisconsin decreeing that the young state should have a prominent public university. In 1848, legislators passed a bill that formally created the University of Wisconsin. Its first class, with 17 students, met in Madison on February 5, 1849.

From these humble beginnings, the university has grown into a large, diverse community with more than 43,000 students representing every county in Wisconsin, 50 states, and 123 countries.

Across campus, the words “sifting and winnowing” often appear when describing UW–Madison’s intellectual life. They date back to an 1894 Board of Regents statement on academic freedom:

“Whatsoever may be the limitations which trammel inquiry elsewhere, we believe that the great state University of Wisconsin should ever encourage that continual and fearless sifting and winnowing by which alone the truth can be found.”

Inspired by this spirit, scholarly inquiry has fed a steady stream of discoveries. From vitamins, agricultural techniques and wildlife ecology to stem cells, biofuels and economic well-being, the university continues to foster ideas and research that change lives.

UW–Madison is the oldest and largest campus in the University of Wisconsin System. Its mission is to provide “a learning environment in which faculty, staff and students can discover, examine critically, preserve and transmit the knowledge, wisdom and values that will help ensure the survival of this and future generations and improve the quality of life for all.”

The university strives to achieve these ends through the continual advancement of its teaching, research and public service programs. Throughout its history, the university has sought to bring the power of learning into students’ daily lives through innovations such as residential learning communities and service learning courses.

We are motivated by the “Wisconsin Idea” — articulated a century ago as the principle that the university’s influence should benefit everyone in the state. Today, this principle has expanded to a global scale. The Wisconsin Idea continues to permeate everything we do, helping to forge close partnerships between faculty, staff and students, and people, communities, and industries around the world.

Program Notes

The school and college flags used in today’s ceremony were commissioned for Commencement by Chancellor Rebecca Blank. They are used in this and other similar ceremonies, including the Chancellor’s Convocation for incoming students — the complementary celebration to Commencement that begins students’ university careers.

The flags’ background wave design reflects the university’s location along Lake Mendota. Colors on each flag reflect the traditional academic colors for the courses of study within each school or college. The Graduate School, School of Education and College of Letters & Science are multicolored, representing their varied disciplines. Flags also feature the year in which each school or college was founded, from 1848 for the Law School and School of Medicine and Public Health (authorized in the charter for the newly created university) to 1983 for the School of Veterinary Medicine.

Flag bearers in the opening procession were selected by the dean of each school and college to represent their fellow students:

Academic Attire

Formal academic attire is an important component of the pageantry of the commencement ceremony.

Gowns

Gowns represent the three principal levels of academic achievement. The bachelor’s gown, symbolizing the first degree, is made of black material and has a closed front and long, pointed, open sleeves. Master’s candidates wear a black gown with a closed front and long, closed sleeves. The gown worn by doctoral candidates has an open front with bell-shaped sleeves. Doctoral gowns are further embellished with velvet trim in the form of crossbars on the sleeves. These are generally black, but may be colored to represent the profession or major field of interest. Some doctoral gowns are colored to represent the distinctive identity of a particular institution. The latter types of gowns are generally worn without the hood.

Hoods

Academic hoods are used as a further means of identifying the level of degree attainment. The bachelor’s hood, worn only by those who have previously received a baccalaureate degree, is rather short with a narrow velvet edging the color of the appropriate discipline and a lining in the color of the institution—cardinal at Wisconsin. The master’s hood is considerably longer, has a wider velvet edging and exposes more of the lining. Doctoral hoods have the widest velvet edging, wide panels at either side, greater length and a fully exposed lining.

Caps and Tassels

Candidates for the bachelor’s degree wear the black mortarboard cap with tassels of their course color. The tassel is worn on the right side until the formal conferral of the degree. At that time, the tassel is moved from the right to the left side. Candidates for all higher degrees wear black mortarboard caps with black tassels on the left side. Some holders of degrees from other countries or institutions wear special hats which are distinctive to their degree. Graduates displaying the red and white philanthropy cord have chosen to make a financial gift commitment of support to the university.

Honors

Bachelor’s degree candidates with distinctive scholastic achievement (the top 20 percent within the school or college) wear cardinal stoles over the fronts of their gowns. Bachelor’s degree candidates participating in an honors program wear white stoles with cardinal bars. Law degree candidates who have been awarded the Dean’s Academic Achievement Award are similarly distinguished by cardinal stoles.

This list of undergraduate degree candidates was compiled from information available to the Office of the Registrar as of April 1, 2016, and should not be regarded as conclusive evidence of graduation or academic standing.

UW–Madison does not use Latin honorifics such as cum laude. Students honored for distinctive scholastic achievement have completed a minimum of 60 credits at UW–Madison and have a cumulative grade-point average placing them within the top 20 percent of graduating students in the school or college.

Selection as an honors candidate indicates participation in the Honors Program in the student's school or college.
