ARROWSTAR PHOTOGRAPHY

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT

Reverend Dr. Alexander Gee Jr.

Reverend Dr. Alexander Gee Jr. is an innovative community servant and transformational educator who is nationally recognized for his advocacy on behalf of the Black community and for his leadership in addressing the root causes of racial disparities.

A UW–Madison alumnus, Gee launched the Justified Anger Coalition in 2013, a solutions-oriented movement that has mobilized the Madison community to address long-standing racial inequalities. The coalition has educated thousands of people about African American history through one of its hallmark initiatives, a series of highly successful community classes called “Black History for a New Day,” taught in tandem with UW–Madison professors.

Gee is the senior pastor of Fountain of Life Covenant Church and the founder of the Madison-based Nehemiah Center for Urban Leadership Development. The center’s core areas include cultivating community leaders, empowering youth, and helping formerly incarcerated men successfully reenter society.

The culmination of Gee’s 35 years of work is the Center for Black Excellence and Culture, which is expected to break ground this summer on Madison’s south side. Led, designed, and inspired by over 700 Black people, the center is intended as a cultural home for Wisconsin’s Black community while bringing together people from all backgrounds to celebrate and experience Black history and culture. Gee is founder and CEO.

Gee earned a bachelor’s degree from UW–Madison in Afro-American studies in 1985 and worked for several years at UW–Madison as an admissions officer and minority recruiter, minority affairs director for the School of Pharmacy, and a special assistant for minority community relations for former Chancellor David Ward. Gee studied at Fuller Seminary and holds a doctorate from Bakke Graduate University.

Internationally, Gee has been closely involved with Zimele USA, a nonprofit organization working to confront poverty in South Africa and empower South African women in rural communities. In 2018, Gee launched the award-winning podcast Black Like Me. Now in its ninth season, the podcast has recorded interviews with more than 180 people and has attracted listeners in all 50 states and in 150 countries on over 70 podcast platforms.

KEYNOTE SPEAKER

Meghan Duggan

Meghan Duggan is a Badger sports legend and trailblazing leader who scaled the heights of her sport, winning historic Olympic gold in ice hockey as captain of Team USA in 2018. Currently, she serves as the director of player development for the New Jersey Devils, leading the way as one of very few women in hockey operations roles in the National Hockey League.

Duggan competed for the U.S. in the 2010 and 2014 Winter Olympic Games as well, winning silver medals, and she played for the U.S. National Team in eight World Championships, winning seven gold medals. She is the only U.S. hockey captain, male or female, to lead teams on 10 different occasions.

Originally from Danvers, Massachusetts, Duggan earned a bachelor's degree from UW–Madison in biology in 2011. She played for the Badgers from 2006 to 2011, skating in four NCAA championship games and winning three. As a senior, she received the Patty Kazmaier Award as the best women's hockey player in the NCAA. She left UW–Madison as the number-one scorer in program history.

After graduation, Duggan played six seasons of professional hockey, including four for the 2015 Clarkson Cup–winning Boston Blades of the Canadian Women's Hockey League.

In 2019, Duggan joined the Professional Women's Hockey Players Association in their attempts to create a new, sustainable professional hockey league, which today is known as the Professional Women's Hockey League. She retired from both the U.S. Women's National Team and professional hockey in 2020.

Off the ice, Duggan is committed to promoting equality in the game and creating opportunities for the next generation. She recently completed a two-year tenure as president of the Women's Sports Foundation, an organization founded by tennis icon Billie Jean King in 1974 to promote female involvement in sports.

Duggan lives in Toronto, Ontario, with her wife, Canadian Olympic gold medalist Gillian Apps, and the couple's three children: George (age 4); Olivia (2.5 years); and Sophie (4 months).

CHANCELLOR

Jennifer L. Mnookin

Jennifer L. Mnookin is the 30th leader in the University of Wisconsin–Madison’s 175-year history, and one of the nation’s top legal scholars.

Chancellor Mnookin is dedicated to pushing boundaries to bring the university to new levels of excellence in research and education, and to energizing and expanding the Wisconsin Idea, UW–Madison’s commitment to innovating for the public good.

She recently launched the largest cross-campus initiative in the university’s history — called Wisconsin RISE (Research, Innovation, and Scholarly Excellence) — to expand educational opportunities and research at UW–Madison around significant, complex challenges affecting Wisconsin and the world.

Prior to coming to Wisconsin, Chancellor

Mnookin served as dean of the UCLA School of Law, where she spent 17 years on the faculty. Before that, she was a professor of law at the University of Virginia School of Law and a visiting professor of law at Harvard Law School.

Chancellor Mnookin is a nationally recognized scholar on the intersection of law and science, and recently co-chaired an expert report on facial recognition technologies for the National Academies of Science, Engineering, and Medicine.

She received her AB from Harvard University, her JD from Yale Law School, and a PhD in history and social study of science and technology from MIT. She is an elected member of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

She and her husband, political scientist Joshua Foa Dienstag, have two adult children.

PROVOST

Charles Lee Isbell Jr.

Dr. Charles Isbell became UW–Madison’s provost and vice chancellor for academic affairs in August of 2023. He previously served as the dean of the College of Computing at Georgia Tech. Dr. Isbell earned his bachelor’s degree in information and computer science from Georgia Tech, and his SM and PhD at MIT’s Artificial Intelligence Lab. His research interests are varied but the unifying theme of his work has been using machine learning to build autonomous agents that engage directly with humans. In addition to leading the academic mission at UW–Madison, he is highly regarded as an expert in both artificial intelligence and in educational reform on a national scale.

Board of Regents Speakers

FRIDAY

AMY BLUMENFELD BOGOST

Amy Blumenfeld Bogost was appointed to the UW System Board of Regents by Governor Tony Evers in 2020 and currently serves as vice president. She practices law as a civil rights attorney dealing with victims of sexual abuse and domestic violence, including expertise in Title IX. She has assisted in organizing, teaching, and collaborating with the Southwest Center for Law and Policy's National Tribal Trial College (NTTC), co-sponsored and located at the University of Wisconsin Law School. NTTC addresses the shortage of legal practitioners in Indian Country and Alaska by training laypersons to litigate in the areas of greatest need. Bogost is committed to advancing educational equity and disability rights and has advocated on behalf of students and families with learning differences and other disabilities. She holds a JD from Chicago-Kent College of Law and a BA in political science and history from UW–Madison. She is a member of the Washington State, California, and Wisconsin Bar Associations. She, her husband, and their three children are lifelong residents of Wisconsin, where they have all proudly received degrees from the University of Wisconsin.

SATURDAY

KAREN A. WALSH

Karen A. Walsh is director of the BerbeeWalsh Foundation, a family foundation dedicated to human and animal health and welfare. Since 2006, the foundation has awarded more than $8 million dollars in grants in the state of Wisconsin, including a gift to the University of Wisconsin Hospitals and Clinics that created the BerbeeWalsh Department of Emergency Medicine. She was a newscaster and reporter for news outlets including Wisconsin Public Radio prior to serving for 23 years in a variety of public information and communications positions at UW–Madison. She retired in 2005 as the assistant dean for external relations in the College of Engineering, directing alumni and donor communications, news media relations, and industry communications. She also directed the college's undergraduate student invention and prototyping competitions, the Schoofs Prize for Creativity and Tong Prototype Prize. Her honors include publications awards with the National Association of Government Communicators, the university's Bollinger Academic Staff Distinguished Achievement Award, and Philanthropist of the Year from the Dane County Humane Society. A native of Columbus, Wisconsin, Walsh holds bachelor's and master's degrees in journalism from UW–Madison.

CLASS OF 2024 SPEAKER

Gracie Nelson

Gracie Nelson won't easily forget her first day at UW–Madison. It was the fall of 2020 — deep into the COVID-19 pandemic — and she was a newly arrived freshman from Seattle. Everyone was fully masked, and all her classes were to be virtual.

Amid this uncertainty, a couple of things helped Nelson find her footing. First, she met her roommate, Sydney Pham, of Little Canada, Minnesota.

“I got so lucky,” Nelson says. “We became best friends. I don't think I would have survived freshman year without her, because I felt very isolated at times.”

Secondly, Nelson pushed herself to get involved in campus activities despite COVID-19. She wanted to be part of the pandemic-related decisions being made across campus, so she applied to and was chosen for the Dean of Students Advisory Board. It would turn out to be a long-term association. This past year, she was chair of the 17-member committee.

As the pandemic began to ease, Nelson became ever busier. She joined a sorority and led its diversity, equity, and inclusion efforts for a year. She chaired the grant allocation committee for the university's student government. She studied abroad in Italy and interned in public affairs with the U.S. Department of Justice. As a senior this past year, she served as class president.

“I think not being able to do much that first year was one of the reasons that I became uber involved on campus after that,” says Nelson, who double-majored in political science and gender and women's studies. “And I think it led to a greater level of appreciation for everything I have been able to do.”

In her commencement speech, Nelson intends to lift up the achievements of her fellow classmates. “Whether your strength was winning a million awards or being someone's best friend, it all has value,” she says.

As for Nelson's pairing with Pham on Day One, it did indeed prove fateful. They are still best friends and roommates.

Senior Class Officers

The senior class officers comprise two elected officers, the president and vice president, and five selected positions: communications, diversity, equity and inclusion, engagement, events, and philanthropy. Elections and interviews took place in the spring semester prior to the beginning of their service in the fall of their senior year.

Part of Student Affairs, the officers also partner with the Wisconsin Foundation and Alumni Association (WFAA) and the Office of the Chancellor. The senior class officers assist with the planning of winter and spring commencement as well as senior social events and senior week events in cooperation with WFAA.

GRACIE NELSON, President

From Seattle, Gracie swapped her raincoat for a puffer jacket, embracing a shift in attire as she pursued dual majors in political science and gender and women’s studies within the honors college. Her campus journey has been filled with leadership, including roles in student government and chairing the Dean of Students Advisory Board. Professionally, Gracie has worked on Governor Evers’ reelection campaign and for the Department of Justice in Washington, DC, with future aspirations of becoming a lawyer. As senior class president, Gracie aimed for a celebratory year, honoring peers’ achievements while amplifying the diverse voices of this graduating class.

MEGAN KEEFE, Vice President

Megan, a Minnesota native, chose UW–Madison to study neurobiology. On campus, Megan has sought to make a lasting impact by serving on the Chancellor’s Advisory Board for Drugs and Alcohol and working to enhance student mental health resources at University Health Services. She also dedicated time toward excelling as a published student researcher and an All-Big Ten Student-Athlete. Megan has been instrumental in expanding health care access for the greater Madison community, solidifying her ambitions to become a future clinician. In her role as vice president, she dedicated herself to celebrate all voices and identities on campus, nurturing inclusivity among 2024 graduates.

LYNDA HUANG, Communications Director

From Green Bay to Madison, Wisconsin, Lynda brought her love for football from Lambeau Field to Camp Randall. As a first-generation student majoring in neurobiology and psychology, Lynda has stayed active on campus as a co-founder of the Undergraduate Chemistry Student Association. Her involvement with the Wisconsin Alumni Research Foundation has helped close gaps in science education in local communities. Lynda has served as a mentor to underrepresented students within the Center for Academic Excellence. After graduation, Lynda plans to attend medical school to pursue her goals of breaking down barriers in health care and making advancements in patient care.

CIBONEY REGLOS, Diversity, Equity and Inclusion Director

Hailing from Minneapolis, Minnesota, Ciboney decided to pursue her passions at UW–Madison, where she majors in global health with certificates in health policy and leadership. She has been involved in a variety of campus activities: serving as a Filipinx American Student Organization executive board member, working as an intern in the Office of Inclusion Education, co-leading a health project for Public Humanities Exchange for Undergraduates, and more. In the future, Ciboney is excited to pursue a master of public health program, where she hopes to improve health outcomes and health inequities for marginalized communities.

NDEMAZEA FONKEM, Engagement Director

As the daughter of a UW Oshkosh professor, Ndemazea caused a family feud when she decided to become a Badger! As a double major in geography and landscape and urban studies, Ndemazea has spent her time on campus organizing for a more equitable and inclusive community. She is a 2023 Wisconsin Idea Fellow, working toward diversifying the products offered in Madison’s emergency food system. A studious Virgo sun, Ndemazea has actively participated in the Wisconsin Undergraduate Planning Association, fostering community within her department, and formerly chaired the Associated Students of Madison, showcasing her commitment to campus leadership and involvement.

ANJALI SUBRAMANIAN, Events Director

After moving around her whole life, Anjali settled down at UW–Madison for four years to major in international studies and global health. Driven by her commitment to ensuring an inclusive experience for all, she worked for numerous political offices around Madison and served two terms as the equity and inclusion chair for the Associated Students of Madison. Through her role as events director, Anjali has designed accessible and fun events for all students that created everlasting memories, and she is excited to bring these skills and experience to her upcoming career with Parker Aerospace.

KENNY LARMIE, Philanthropy Director

From Stillwater, Minnesota, Kenny relinquished his Golden Gopher garments for a more robust red and white attire — pursuing a dream of attending medical school. On campus, Kenny has found a home in various student organizations, including extensive research in a lab studying the genomic landscape of schizophrenia disorder. His dedications have exceeded the classroom, fostering a three-year fundraising initiative titled “Project PLAT” — a clothing fundraiser purposed to support minority-rich elementary schools in the Madison area. As philanthropy director, Kenny has aspired to make a lasting impact among 2024 graduates, simultaneously nurturing the beloved campus and community we call home.

School and College Flags

The school and college flags used in the ceremonies were commissioned for commencement by then-Chancellor Rebecca Blank in 2015. They are used in this and other similar ceremonies, including convocation for incoming students — the complementary celebration to commencement that begins students' university careers.

The flags' background wave design reflects the university's location along Lake Mendota. Colors on each flag reflect the traditional academic colors for the courses of study within each school or college. The Graduate School, College of Letters & Science, and School of Education are multicolored, representing their varied disciplines. Flags also feature the year in which each school or college was founded, from 1848 for the Law School and School of Medicine and Public Health (authorized in the charter for the newly created university) to 1983 for the School of Veterinary Medicine.

Flag bearers in the opening procession were selected by the dean of each school and college to represent their fellow students.

Academic Attire

Gowns

Gowns represent the three principal levels of academic achievement. The bachelor's gown, symbolizing the first degree, is made of black material and has a closed front and long, pointed, open sleeves. Master's candidates wear a black gown with a closed front and long, closed sleeves. The gown worn by doctoral candidates has an open front with bell-shaped sleeves. Doctoral gowns are further embellished with velvet trim in the form of crossbars on the sleeves. In spring 2017, the gown designs were updated to include the University of Wisconsin–Madison colors and crest logo, providing both a pop of red among the traditional sea of black and an additional display of UW spirit that's recognizable to all.

Hoods

Academic hoods are used as a further means of identifying the level of degree attainment. The bachelor's hood, worn only by those who have previously received a baccalaureate degree, is rather short with a narrow velvet edging the color of the appropriate discipline and a lining in the color of the institution — cardinal at Wisconsin. The master's hood is considerably longer, has a wider velvet edging, and exposes more of the lining. Doctoral hoods have the widest velvet edging, wide panels at either side, greater length, and a fully exposed lining.

Caps and Tassels

Candidates for the bachelor's degree wear the black mortarboard cap with tassels of their course color. The tassel is worn on the right side until the formal conferral of the degree. At this time, the tassel is moved from the right to the left side. Doctoral and terminal degree candidates wear an eight-sided black tam with a gold tassel. Master's degree candidates wear black mortarboard caps with black tassels on the left side. Some holders of degrees from other countries or institutions wear special hats that are distinctive to their degree.

Graduates with Honors and Distinction

Bachelor's degree candidates with distinctive scholastic achievement wear cardinal stoles over the fronts of their gowns. Bachelor's degree candidates participating in an honors program wear white stoles with cardinal chevrons.

Honorary Degrees

Honorary degrees from UW–Madison recognize individuals with careers of extraordinary accomplishment. The Committee on Honorary Degrees looks to sustained and characteristic activity as its warrant: uncommonly meritorious activity exhibiting values that are esteemed by UW–Madison. Preference is given to those who are connected in some significant way to the state or the university.

Schools, colleges, and departments submit nominations to the Committee on Honorary Degrees, a central part in the process of awarding honorary degrees. The committee is composed of 28 members, including the chancellor and the Universities of Wisconsin president or their designees. Sixteen members are selected by the faculty, four from each of the four faculty divisions of the university (arts and humanities, biological sciences, physical sciences, social sciences). The chancellor appoints 10 members from the faculty or the administration.

Finalists are submitted to the chancellor and the Board of Regents for review. Once approved, the Faculty Senate votes, with a three-fourths affirmative vote required for confirmation.

As a matter of policy, emeritus faculty members are not eligible for honorary degrees solely on the basis of their performance while at UW–Madison. The university cannot grant honorary degrees to those who have held elected office in the state in the past two years, nor to anyone employed by the University of Wisconsin within the past two years.

BASCOM HALL

The University of Wisconsin–Madison

The University of Wisconsin–Madison has long been recognized as one of the world’s great public higher education institutions. The university stands alone in its breadth of excellence, with an academic reputation that ranks among the best internationally, a $1.5 billion research engine that’s the eighth largest in the country, a Big Ten athletics powerhouse that’s home to national-champion Badgers, and an unmatched dedication to public service called the “Wisconsin Idea.”

UW–Madison has existed for as long as Wisconsin has been a state. In 1848, legislators passed a bill that formally created the University of Wisconsin. Its first class, with 17 students, met in Madison on February 5, 1849. From these humble beginnings, the university has grown into a large, diverse community with more than 50,000 students — from every county in Wisconsin and some 120 countries around the world — as well as nearly 500,000 living alumni.

The university’s commitment to academic inquiry and freedom has been immortalized by the phrase “sifting and winnowing,” originating from an 1894 Board of Regents statement that is still repeated on campus today: “Whatever may be the limitations which trammel inquiry elsewhere, we believe that the great state University of Wisconsin should ever encourage that continual and fearless sifting and winnowing by which alone the truth can be found.”

From satellites in space to observatories in Antarctica, UW–Madison research has always been on the nexus of the next big discovery. The university’s legacy of innovation includes life-changing advances in agricultural techniques, medical procedures, poverty research, wildlife management, embryonic stem cells, and human evolution. The university’s broad academic research portfolio encompasses the humanities and the sciences.

The “Wisconsin Idea” — a century-old principle that the university’s influence should extend far beyond the classroom — has become a way of life for the UW–Madison community. Every year, hundreds of students give back to the local community through Badger Volunteers. And thousands of alumni have taken the service mission abroad through the Peace Corps, making the university the number-two all-time producer of enrollees.

UW–Madison has emerged as a leader in affordability, believing that all Wisconsin residents should be able to access a top-tier education. A series of pioneering financial aid programs now cover the full cost of attendance for Wisconsin residents eligible for Pell Grants and provide tuition-free support for all Wisconsinites whose family income is at or below the state median. Most recently, the Wisconsin Tribal Educational Promise program meets the cost of attendance for in-state students enrolled in federally recognized American Indian tribes.

As part of its 175th anniversary celebration this year, UW–Madison commissioned special banners for Bascom Hall (pictured left) that incorporate traditional imagery and colors of the Ho-Chunk Nation. The piece, titled Seed by Seed and created by a UW–Madison doctoral student and faculty members, deepens the growing connection between UW–Madison and the Ho-Chunk, on whose ancestral land the university resides.

After 175 years, UW–Madison continues to live up to its motto and move the university — and world — forward. On, Wisconsin!

Undergraduate Degree Candidates

This list of undergraduate degree candidates was compiled from information available to the Office of the Registrar as of May 28, 2024, and should not be regarded as conclusive evidence of graduation or academic standing.

UW–Madison does not use Latin honors such as cum laude. Students honored for distinctive scholastic achievement have completed a minimum of 60 credits at UW–Madison and have a cumulative grade-point average placing them within the top 20 percent of graduating students in the school or college. Selection as an honors candidate indicates participation in the Honors Program in the student's school or college.
