HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT

Donna E. Shalala

During her many decades as a scholar, teacher, and administrator, Donna E. Shalala profoundly impacted public health policy, educational outcomes, and the academic community, including at the University of Wisconsin–Madison, where she was the first woman to lead a Big Ten Conference school and only the second woman in the country to head a major research university.

Shalala's tenure as chancellor at UW–Madison from 1988 to 1993 was marked by a greater investment in world-class faculty, an increase in the number of students drawn to Wisconsin, the push for a strong public-private partnership to build new science facilities, and the return of UW athletics to national prominence.

Shalala stepped down as UW–Madison chancellor in January 1993 to become secretary of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS), where she spearheaded initiatives that expanded access to health care, doubled the budget for the National Institutes of Health, and strengthened the Medicare and Medicaid programs. She served for eight years, becoming the longest-serving HHS secretary in U.S. history.

Born in Cleveland, Ohio, Shalala earned a bachelor's degree in history from Western College for Women. One of the country's first Peace Corps volunteers, she served two years in Iran. She earned a PhD in political science and economics from the Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs at Syracuse University.

Shalala served as president of Hunter College of the City University of New York from 1980 to 1987 and president of the University of Miami from 2001 to 2015. She was elected to the U.S. House of Representatives as a Democrat from Florida for one term, from 2018 to 2020.

In 2008, President George W. Bush awarded Shalala the Presidential Medal of Freedom, the nation's highest civilian honor. In 2011, she was inducted into the National Women's Hall of Fame in Seneca Falls, New York. She currently is the Trustee Professor of Political Science and Health Policy at the University of Miami.

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT

Frank James Sensenbrenner Jr.

Few lawmakers have played a larger role in shaping public policy in the U.S. during the last half-century than Jim Sensenbrenner.

Sensenbrenner devoted his entire career to public service, first in the Wisconsin State Legislature, then as a Republican member of the U.S. House of Representatives from 1979 until his retirement in 2021. His 42-year tenure in the House is the longest congressional tenure in state history.

Among the many highlights of his career in Congress was his leadership in the reauthorization of and amendments to the Voting Rights Act, his many years of work on national security and civil liberties issues, and his support of legislation strengthening the Americans with Disabilities Act.

Sensenbrenner was born in Chicago and shortly thereafter moved to Shorewood, Wisconsin, with his family. He earned a bachelor's degree in political science from Stanford University and a law degree from University of Wisconsin Law School.

Sensenbrenner was first elected to the Wisconsin State Assembly in 1968, then won a special election for the Wisconsin State Senate in 1975. He was elected to his first term in the U.S. House of Representatives in 1978.

During his time in Congress, Sensenbrenner served as chairman of the House Committee on Science, Space, and Technology (1997–2001) and the House Committee on the Judiciary (2001–07). His many legislative achievements while House Judiciary Committee Chairman include the USA PATRIOT Act, the REAL ID Act, and an extension of the Voting Rights Act. He worked across the aisle to pass the Comprehensive Opioid Abuse Reduction Act and the Due Process Act. In 2013, he helped sway his Republican colleagues to support the USA Freedom Act, undoing what he saw as the excesses of intelligence gathering enabled by the USA PATRIOT Act.

Among his most memorable traits as an elected official, Sensenbrenner was widely known for his accessibility to voters — he averaged over 100 in-person town meetings a year in his district.

KEYNOTE SPEAKER*Jason Gay

Since 2009, UW–Madison alum Jason Gay has been a sports and culture columnist for the Wall Street Journal, where he employs a sharp analytical eye and an irreverent sense of humor to shift effortlessly between lighthearted themes and serious topics. He has covered events ranging from the Super Bowl and the Olympics to the Masters Tournament and the Tour de France.

Born in Boston, Gay grew up in the nearby suburb of Belmont, Massachusetts, where he says he had an embarrassing and forgettable career in baseball, basketball, cross country, and tennis. He has competed as an amateur bike racer, finishing dead last in races from New York to Rwanda.

Gay began his reporting career covering Little League baseball for the Vineyard Gazette on Martha's Vineyard, Massachusetts. He went on to work as a writer and editor for publications including GQ, Rolling Stone, the New York Observer, and the Boston Phoenix. He is the author of the 2015 best-seller Little Victories, which was a finalist for the Thurber Prize for American Humor. He was named Sports Columnist of the Year by the Society of Professional Journalists in 2010, 2016, and 2019, and in 2024 by the National Society of Newspaper Columnists. Most recently, he authored the essay book I Wouldn't Do That If I Were Me.

Gay graduated from UW–Madison in 1992, earning a bachelor's degree in political science. He loves his alma mater, as evidenced by columns like "Badgers Must Beat Michigan to Save the World" and "Dream Team with a Miracle Coach" about Wisconsin's 2025 National Champion women's hockey team. Gay lives in Baltimore, Maryland, with his wife, Bessie, their two children, Jesse and Josie, a cat, a goldfish, two lizards, and a temperamental rabbit named Marshmallow.

Chancellor Mnookin is dedicated to pushing boundaries to bring the university to new levels of excellence in research and education, and to energizing and expanding the Wisconsin Idea, UW–Madison’s commitment to innovating for the public good.

She is committed to expanding educational opportunities and research at UW–Madison around significant, complex challenges affecting Wisconsin and the world, and to increasing access to the university through Bucky’s Pell Pathway and Bucky’s Tuition Promise, which have significantly expanded the number of in-state students receiving funding to cover their full financial need.

During Chancellor Mnookin’s tenure, the university has been designated as a national center for innovation and economic prosperity and recognized as the number one public university in the country for opening the doors to opportunity for its graduates.

Prior to coming to Wisconsin, she served as dean of the UCLA School of Law, where she spent 17 years on the faculty. Before that, she was a professor of law at the University of Virginia School of Law and a visiting professor of law at Harvard Law School.

She received her AB from Harvard University, her JD from Yale Law School, a PhD in history and social study of science and technology from MIT, and is an elected member of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

She and her husband, political scientist Joshua Foa Dienstag, have two adult children.

PROVOST

Charles Lee Isbell Jr.

Charles Lee Isbell Jr. has been UW–Madison’s provost and vice chancellor for academic affairs since August of 2023. He previously served as the dean and John P. Imlay, Jr. Chair of the College of Computing at Georgia Institute of Technology.

Provost Isbell is a computationalist, researcher, educator, and advocate for access in higher education. His research focuses on using machine learning to enable autonomous agents to engage in lifelong learning in the presence of thousands of other intelligent agents — some of whom may be humans — with an emphasis on building systems responsibly and inclusively.

The provost has also worked extensively on education reform. He is a strong believer in the role of higher education in general — and broad, research-focused universities in particular — in providing opportunities for deep engagement in what it means to be an active and productive citizen.

Provost Isbell is a nationally recognized expert whose work has been featured in both technical collections and the popular media, including the New York Times, the Washington Post, and Netflix. He has provided congressional testimony on both technical and educational matters.

He is a fellow of the Association for the Advancement of Artificial Intelligence and the Association for Computing Machinery as well as an elected member of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences. He is also an award-winning teacher who has been recognized internationally for his work in providing high-quality education at scale.

He received his BS degree from Georgia Tech and continued his education at the Artificial Intelligence Laboratory at MIT. After earning his PhD there, he joined AT&T Labs/Research. He later returned to Georgia Tech to join the faculty of the College of Computing, becoming dean in 2019.

Senior Class Officers

The senior class officers comprise two elected officers, the president and vice president, and five selected positions: communications; diversity, equity, and inclusion; engagement; events; and philanthropy. Elections and interviews took place in the spring semester prior to the beginning of their service in the fall of their senior year.

Part of Student Affairs, the officers also partner with the Wisconsin Foundation and Alumni Association (WFAA) and the Office of the Chancellor. The senior class officers assist with the planning of winter and spring commencement as well as senior social events.

SAM MAHLUM, President

From Germantown, Wisconsin, Sam did not travel far to join the Class of 2025 at UW–Madison. Sam participated on the Badger Powerlifting team and held a board position on Medlife that prepared her for the senior class president position. She sought to bring events to campus that fostered a memorable and impactful senior year. Professionally, Sam worked as a CNA at UW Health and on the Brain, Behavior, and Wellbeing research team, presenting at the 2024 student research symposium. Sam is earning a bio-chemistry degree with a certificate in athletic healthcare and is preparing for a master's program in anesthesiology assistance. As senior class president, she is serving as the student speaker for the spring commencement ceremony at Camp Randall Stadium.

SHELBY OLSON, Vice President

A third-generation Badger from the Twin Cities, Shelby always aspired to be a part of the UW–Madison community. She began her journey by joining campus organizations including Wisconsin Wellness and Medlife. Fueled with the desire to learn, she majored in biology and psychology with a certificate in criminal justice. She plans to pursue medical school. Passionate about research, she was a Hilldale Research Fellow investigating stress resilience. Outside of campus, Shelby volunteers at Meriter, UW Health, and the National Sexual Assault Hotline. Understanding mental health struggles, she sought to provide camaraderie and support for all students during the difficult transition to life after college.

LOGAN ANDERSON, Communications Director

From the shores of Lake Michigan in Manitowoc, Wisconsin, to Madison's isthmus, Logan was thrilled to be a first-generation Badger. His excitement over campus life only grew with his involvement. He pursued majors in legal studies and education studies, along with a certificate in criminal justice. His fervent interest in law led him to be a member of the Pre-Law Society and intern in the Office of Student Conduct and Community Standards. Logan chaired the Dean of Students Advisory Board, seeking to represent the student body and improve student life. His biggest goal was to involve and utilize seniors' wisdom to ensure everyone had the best Wisconsin Experience possible.

DANA TABAZA, Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion Director

A recent immigrant to the United States, Dana is a proud Palestinian-Jordanian and a first-generation college student. She majored in industrial engineering and data science, with certificates in computer science, business, and international engineering. Dana found her home interning at the Multicultural Student Center, where she supported advocacy and programming across the four identity centers as well as pioneered MENA cultural programming. Dana also served on the executive boards of Amnesty International, the Muslim Student Association, and the Industrial Engineering Task Force, and she served as an ESL intern at Madison's Literacy Network. As DEI director, Dana dedicated herself to amplifying, connecting, and resourcing marginalized voices, empowering them to take up space unapologetically wherever they are.

HELEN SIMPSON, Engagement Director

Hailing from the small town of Menomonie, Wisconsin, Helen understands the importance of a strong community. These values have led her down the path of public service, majoring in political science and legal studies with certificates in public policy and gender and women's studies. Helen was involved in undergraduate research and was a member of the UW chapter of Camp Kesem. Politically engaged, she has interned with the Wisconsin Legislature and the Democratic National Committee. As engagement director, Helen worked to ensure campus is a space where all students feel valued and to uplift the voices of the vibrant senior class.

DEANNA HEBBRING, Events Director

Originally from Menomonee Falls, Wisconsin, Deanna immersed herself in campus life at every turn. Being a first-generation college student studying kinesiology, Deanna stayed active in various activities, both on and off campus. Within the Badger community, Deanna served as an executive board member of Alpha Phi Omega, contributed as an undergraduate research assistant, worked as a late-night coordinator with University Housing, and volunteered in the Adapted Fitness Program. After graduation, Deanna will attend the UW–Madison Doctor of Physical Therapy Program, where she hopes to support and empower individuals in achieving their physical goals and enhancing their overall quality of life.

VERONICA GOVEAS, Philanthropy Director

From Menomonee Falls, Wisconsin, Veronica majored in biology with certificates in biocore and global health. Aspiring to a career in medicine and public health, she is dedicated to advancing scientific knowledge and community well-being. As philanthropy director, Veronica fostered a spirit of giving and created impactful opportunities for her peers. She was involved with the inpatient psychiatric unit at UW Health and was a Hilldale Research Fellow, working on cutting-edge research exploring exercise and neurotrophic factors in Parkinson's disease. Veronica aimed to ensure that the Class of 2025 is remembered for its compassion, generosity, and commitment to positive change.

School and College Flags

The school and college flags used in the ceremonies were commissioned for commencement by then-Chancellor Rebecca Blank in 2015. They are used in this and other similar ceremonies, including convocation for incoming students — the complementary celebration to commencement that begins students' university careers.

The flags' background wave design reflects the university's location along Lake Mendota. Colors on each flag reflect the traditional academic colors for the courses of study within each school or college. The Graduate School, College of Letters & Science, and School of Education are multicolored, representing their varied disciplines. Flags also feature the year in which each school or college was founded, from 1848 for the Law School and School of Medicine and Public Health (authorized in the charter for the newly created university) to 1983 for the School of Veterinary Medicine.

Flag bearers in the opening procession were selected by the dean of each school and college to represent their fellow students.

Academic Attire

Gowns

Gowns represent the three principal levels of academic achievement. The bachelor's gown, symbolizing the first degree, is made of black material and has a closed front and long, pointed, open sleeves. Master's candidates wear a black gown with a closed front and long, closed sleeves. The gown worn by doctoral candidates has an open front with bell-shaped sleeves. Doctoral gowns are further embellished with velvet trim in the form of crossbars on the sleeves. In spring 2017, the gown designs were updated to include the University of Wisconsin–Madison colors and crest logo, providing both a pop of red among the traditional sea of black and an additional display of UW spirit that's recognizable to all.

Hoods

Academic hoods are used as a further means of identifying the level of degree attainment. The bachelor's hood, worn only by those who have previously received a baccalaureate degree, is rather short with a narrow velvet edging the color of the appropriate discipline and a lining in the color of the institution — cardinal at Wisconsin. The master's hood is considerably longer, has a wider velvet edging, and exposes more of the lining. Doctoral hoods have the widest velvet edging, wide panels at either side, greater length, and a fully exposed lining.

Caps and Tassels

Candidates for the bachelor's degree wear the black mortarboard cap with tassels of their course color. The tassel is worn on the right side until the formal conferral of the degree. At this time, the tassel is moved from the right to the left side. Doctoral and terminal degree candidates wear an eight-sided black tam with a gold tassel. Master's degree candidates wear black mortarboard caps with black tassels on the left side. Some holders of degrees from other countries or institutions wear special hats that are distinctive to their degree.

Graduates with Honors and Distinction

Bachelor's degree candidates with distinctive scholastic achievement wear cardinal stoles over the fronts of their gowns. Bachelor's degree candidates participating in an honors program wear white stoles with cardinal chevrons.

Honorary Degrees

An honorary degree is among the highest honors given by the University of Wisconsin–Madison and recognizes individuals with careers of extraordinary accomplishment. The honor is conferred upon those with uncommonly meritorious activity, exhibiting values highly regarded by the university throughout its history. The Committee on Honorary Degrees looks to those who have shown outstanding service to humanity globally, nationally, or locally, and whose achievements have enhanced lives through their contributions to scholarship or through artistic talent and creativity, and, importantly, evidence of a dedication to the Wisconsin Idea, broadly construed.

When awarding honorary doctorates, the Committee on Honorary Degrees carefully considers candidates from all disciplines. The committee is composed of 15 members, including the chancellor and the Universities of Wisconsin president or their designees. Eight members are selected by the faculty, two from each of the four faculty divisions of the university (arts and humanities, biological sciences, physical sciences, social sciences). The chancellor appoints five members from the faculty or the administration.

Finalists are submitted to the chancellor and the Board of Regents for review. Once approved, the Faculty Senate votes, with a three-fourths affirmative vote being required for confirmation.

The University of Wisconsin–Madison

The University of Wisconsin–Madison has long been recognized as one of the world’s great public higher education institutions. The university stands alone in its breadth of excellence, with an academic reputation that ranks among the best internationally, a $1.7 billion research engine that’s the sixth largest in the country, a Big Ten athletics powerhouse that’s home to national-champion Badgers, and an unmatched dedication to public service called the Wisconsin Idea.

UW–Madison has existed for as long as Wisconsin has been a state. In 1848, legislators passed a bill that formally created the University of Wisconsin. Its first class, with 17 students, met in Madison on February 5, 1849. From these humble beginnings, the university has grown into a large, diverse community with more than 50,000 students — from every state, every county in Wisconsin, and 129 countries around the world — as well as nearly 500,000 living alumni.

The university’s commitment to academic inquiry and freedom has been immortalized by the phrase “sifting and winnowing,” originating from an 1894 Board of Regents statement that is still repeated on campus today: “Whatever may be the limitations which trammel inquiry elsewhere, we believe that the great state University of Wisconsin should ever encourage that continual and fearless sifting and winnowing by which alone the truth can be found.”

From satellites in space to observatories in Antarctica, UW–Madison research has always been on the nexus of the next big discovery. The university’s legacy of innovation includes life-changing advances in agricultural techniques, medical procedures, poverty research, wildlife management, embryonic stem cells, and human evolution. The university’s broad academic research portfolio encompasses the humanities and the sciences.

The Wisconsin Idea — a century-old principle that the university’s influence should extend far beyond the classroom — has become a way of life for the UW–Madison community. Every year, hundreds of students give back to the local community through Badger Volunteers. And thousands of alumni have taken the service mission abroad through the Peace Corps, making the university the number-two all-time producer of enrollees.

UW–Madison has emerged as a leader in affordability, believing that all Wisconsin residents should be able to access a top-tier education. A series of pioneering financial aid programs now cover the full cost of attendance for Wisconsin residents eligible for Pell Grants and provide tuition-free support for all Wisconsinites whose family income is at or below the state median. Most recently, the Wisconsin Tribal Educational Promise program meets the cost of attendance for in-state students enrolled in federally recognized American Indian tribes.

As part of its 175th anniversary celebration in 2023, UW–Madison commissioned special banners for Bascom Hall (pictured left) that incorporate traditional imagery and colors of the Ho-Chunk Nation. The piece, titled Seed by Seed and created by a UW–Madison doctoral student and faculty members, deepens the growing connection between UW–Madison and the Ho-Chunk, on whose ancestral land the university resides.

UW–Madison continues to live up to its motto and move the university — and world — forward. On, Wisconsin!

Undergraduate Degree Candidates

This list of undergraduate degree candidates was compiled from information available to the Office of the Registrar as of March 21, 2025, and should not be regarded as conclusive evidence of graduation or academic standing.

UW–Madison does not use Latin honors such as cum laude. Students honored for distinctive scholastic achievement have completed a minimum of 60 credits at UW–Madison and have a cumulative grade-point average placing them within the top 20 percent of graduating students in the school or college. Selection as an honors candidate indicates participation in the Honors Program in the student's school or college.
